About DST

The Department of Science and Technology (DST), Government of India is mandated to strengthen Research and Development base of the country by coordinating, promoting and supporting science, technology and innovation activities. DST serves as a nodal agency connecting the science sector to the Government verticals and industry. Various activities of the Department can be categorised into the seven heads: i) Policies that stimulate and foster value added pursuit of science and technology, ii) Development of human resources, iii) Institutional capacity building, iv) Technology capacity strengthening v) S&T Competitiveness through Alliances & Partnerships, vi) R&D missions and vii) Science for societal empowerment at the grassroots. DST establishes systems and mechanisms to stimulate and foster excellence and leadership in scientific research and development in the country.

DST supports programmes that help to build chosen international alliances and partnerships with various countries both at bilateral and multilateral level. These activities are aligned with India's developmental aspirations in scientific and technological fields that can contribute to the knowledge economy at national, regional and global level.

About ASEAN

The ASEAN Secretariat was set up in February 1976 by the Foreign Ministers of ASEAN. It was then housed at the Department of Foreign Affairs of Indonesia in Jakarta. The existing ASEAN Secretariat at Jakarta was established and officiated in 1981 by the then President of Indonesia, H.E. Soeharto. The ASEAN Secretariat's basic function is to provide for greater efficiency in the coordination of ASEAN organs and for more effective implementation of ASEAN projects and activities. The ASEAN Secretariat's vision is that by 2015, it will be the nerve centre of a strong and confident ASEAN Community that is globally respected for acting in full compliance with its Charter and in the best interest of its people. The ASEAN Secretariat's mission is to initiate, facilitate and coordinate ASEAN stakeholder collaboration in realising the purposes and principles of ASEAN as reflected in the ASEAN Charter.

About FICCI

Established in 1927, FICCI is the largest and oldest apex business organisation in India. Its history is closely interwoven with India's struggle for independence, its industrialization, and its emergence as one of the most rapidly growing global economies.

A non-government, not-for-profit organisation, FICCI is the voice of India's business and industry. From influencing policy to encouraging debate, engaging with policy makers and civil society, FICCI articulates the views and concerns of industry. It serves its members from the Indian private and public corporate sectors and multinational companies, drawing its strength from diverse regional chambers of commerce and industry across states, reaching out to over 2,50,000 companies.

FICCI provides a platform for networking and consensus building within and across sectors and is the first port of call for Indian industry, policy makers and the international business community.
